What Is Invisible Capital?

- We all bring something to the table that isn't money – a skill, a life experience, a piece of our culture, a way of seeing the world. That's invisible capital: real value that often goes unseen until someone takes the time to ask.
 - Skills – A talent or ability you've built
 - Experiences – Moments that shaped who you are
 - Culture & Identity – Traditions, language, background
 - Perspective – The unique lens you see through

"Everyone in this room is walking around with something valuable to offer – we just don't always know it's there."

Educate - Platteville

Our Pillar – Educate

When we take the time to educate ourselves about each other, our cultures, our experiences, our shared and different identities, we start to see the invisible capital everyone around us is carrying.

Educate ourselves → Find connection → Build belonging

INVISIBLE CAPITAL

Timeline Grown each year

Staff → Staff – We started small: staff members sharing their own invisible capital with each other.

Staff → Student – Then we opened it up – students got to hear directly from staff.

Student → Student – This year is the FIRST time students share their own invisible capital with each other, too!

- 1. Staff Fills Out a Survey – Each staff member writes a one-sentence "blurb" about their invisible capital.
- 2. Students Sign Up by TITLE – You choose a topic, not a teacher's name – staff are placed in different rooms so it's about the story, not the person.
- 3. Head to Your Room – Find the room matching the title you picked and settle in. Hear the story, ask questions, then rotate to your next pick.

GET TO KNOW YOU BINGO

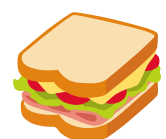

- Mingle and find people who match a square on your card.
- Talk to students from schools other than your own.
- Some squares are blank – Fill them out ahead of time with things that are unique to your identity and find people with similar interests, OR fill them in as you find shared interests
- We'll play for a set amount of time, then come back together.

LUNCH DETAILS

Lunch Directions

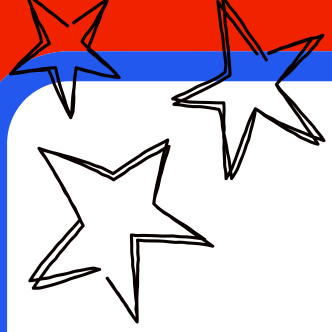

- IF YOU REGISTERED FOR A LUNCH, YOU'LL BE ABLE TO PICK UP A SUB, CHIPS, WATER, AND DESSERT.
